

Support Art Therapy in Georgia by joining the Georgia Art Therapy Association

Your support helps us to broaden awareness of art therapy and its many applications in the healing and helping communities in Georgia. As a member you help us bring to Georgia workshops, relevant to art therapy and healing, by nationally known art therapists and artists. As a professional member you contribute to the larger network of art therapists in our state and nationally, as well as benefit from the connection to other professionals who are interested in promoting art therapy. Your dues help us in promoting information pertinent to members and to the community at large through our legislative watches and lobbying efforts.

There are two financial levels of membership in the Georgia Art Therapy Association.

- A. $30 Professional Credentialed members of American Art Therapy Association (ATR and ATR-BC), Professional Members (those with a Masters of Arts in Art Therapy), Associate Members (professional therapists without an art therapy degree but also members of American Art Therapy Association), and Friends (non American Art Therapy Association members).
- B. $15 Student (those working on a graduate degree in art therapy)

Friends and Students can attend meetings, conferences, and receive “members only” advanced notice about upcoming events and can share their concerns and ideas with other members in a community of like-minded folks. Friends and Students cannot hold office in the organization or vote.

If you are joining as a credentialed professional, professional, associate, or student, you must advise the American Art Therapy Association and add the GATA dues to you AATA dues. Please check out their website. They have online forms for this. Students submit the needed documents to AATA for their student rates.

As a friend of GATA, you may fill out the form below and join the Georgia Art Therapy Association directly from our website, or you may download the form and send it to Sandra Tate, sandraptate@yahoo.com:
